Seminar 2. From Crisis to Contribution: Ukraine's Role in Advancing Health Diplomacy

Wednesday, 4 November 2026 · 13:00–15:30 CET (14:00–16:30 EEST) · Online seminar (Zoom) · English

THE PARADOX

Why — and how — does a country under daily attack become a security donor?

Concept

The first seminar established the foundations: what health diplomacy is and why it matters for the region. This seminar takes a step further — from concept to agency.

Ukraine is generating knowledge that exists nowhere else: in health system resilience under pressure, crisis management, and academic continuity during conflict. The seminar aims to make this knowledge visible and legible to an international audience — and to examine the role of academic partnerships as an instrument of diplomacy.

Programme

Time	Block	Who
10 min	Recap from Seminar 1 + The Paradox Key findings from the first seminar and the paradox that frames the discussion ahead.	Prof. Olesya Hulchiy
20 min	Ukraine from the inside: what the system looks like under pressure Three perspectives in one narrative: clinician, administrator, academic. What the health system goes through during war — and what that experience looks like from the outside.	Prof. Serhiy Dubrov
20 min	From emergency response to health diplomacy: a regional perspective	Prof. Dorit Nitzan
10 min	Looking ahead: questions on the horizon for academic health diplomacy A youth perspective — her own path into the field, the work of the Youth Council, and what international cooperation looks like from where she stands.	Natalia Pidmurniak
45–50 min	Panel discussion Moderated by Prof. Olesya Hulchiy around 2–3 focus questions, drawn from participants' questions submitted in advance. Speakers + floor.	All speakers + participants
5–10 min	Closing Key takeaways. Next steps within Health Bridge.	Prof. Olesya Hulchiy
