For Sylvangatan 6, based on option 5 (dinner on the sofa), with swaps if you choose option 3 (long table). Prices come from Swedish shop and price-comparison pages found in Nov 2026. They change often, so check before buying.

Bed: decide this first. IKEA doesn't make 105 cm beds, and Swedish-made 105 beds cost much more. Cheapest: an IKEA 120×200 bed + mattress (≈ 3,100–3,700 kr). In the turned-around layout it leaves ≈ 65 cm to walk into the alcove, which is fine for one person. Pick a frame without a tall headboard so it doesn't stick into the doorway. Roomier: a 105×200 bed (≈ 80 cm walkway), but new ones start at ≈ 8,000–9,000 kr. Look for a used 105 frame and buy a new mattress or topper.

- Now: bed, mattress, bedding + lift-top table ≈ 4,700–6,200
- Main furniture later ≈ 6,000–14,000 (plus a new sofa cover if you want one)
- Lighting ≈ 400–1,200
- Decor + textiles ≈ 2,300–6,400
- Total ≈ 13,000–28,000 kr, spread over a few months. Choosing a 105 bed adds about 4,000–6,000.

Order of buying: 1) bed + table (now), 2) sofa (keep checking Blocket from day one; good EKTORPs go fast), 3) rug + paper lantern (they transform the room cheaply), 4) storage, 5) art, plants and textiles bit by bit.
